Hope Is Not a Strategy is most valuable for those who are new to large account and large ticket selling. For those with lots of experience, the book is helpful in providing a structure for sales team planning and coordination. As a test of the book's relevance, I took a potential sale that our firm is wrestling with and put it through the process. A number of valuable insights came from ...

Hope Is Not a Strategy: The 6 Keys to Winning the Complex ...

"Hope is not a strategy": A CEO expressed her frustration with executives who ask to discuss potential challenges with their plans outside the harsh scrutiny of the strategy room. Most strategic plans look like hockey sticks, she says, "because hope springs eternal" that a projected "base case" will materialize. Now, when a business ...

Hope is not a strategy | McKinsey & Company

"Hope is not a strategy" may be an accepted aphorism, but so is the adage that "an 80 percent solution today is better than a 100 percent solution tomorrow or next week." Hope need not be the ending point of strategy, but it is an essential element. It frames strategy's narrative, and it prevents paralysis by analysis, allowing for creative, optimistic adaptation. The icon of the ...

HOPE IS NOT 'A' STRATEGY: IT'S THE ONLY STRATEGY - US Army ...

Hope inherently encourages misty-eyed thinking, it rounds off the corners of life's sharp edges and blinkers us to a future that might not be founded on reality. Hope as a strategy, rejects facts and glosses over evidence. We must distinguish between hope as a positive thinking attitude and hope as a strategy. Positive thinking in and of ...

While hope is necessary, it alone is not a strategy. Before announcing change, ensure your leadership team can articulate how the change will help fulfill your mission long-term. If a decision seems to conflict with your values, lean into the tension and discuss why it's the right course. Proactively addressing tension helps people respect your reasoning and willingness to make tough ...

Hope Is Not a Strategy - Jarrard Phillips Cate & Hancock

They hope the two departments collaborate successfully (people work with each other). They hope the new initiative makes a difference (people buy into the idea). The problem is, if your outcome depends on other people to take action in a specific way, hope is not enough. As one of my business mentors used to say, "Hope is not a strategy".
