As a Marine officer who served in Vietnam 67-68 I especially enjoy reading his books covering his service and experience during his two tours in Vietnam, which covered the period 67-70. The first tour was in Force Recon (Killer Kane) covered in another book he wrote, which I read and thoroughly enjoyed.

On March 16, 1967, Mendez' unit was conducting a search and destroy mission when they came under punishing attack from 50-calibre machine guns being fired by a hard-core Viet Cong battalion. Half of Mendez' platoon was pinned down in the middle of an open rice paddy, the swamps created to grow the grain, while bullets whizzed around them.
