These fonts are easy on the eyes and easy to read. They should not distract the reader at any cost. Display or decorative fonts, on the other hand, are the ones that scream for attention from a distance.

These fonts can make a big impact when used correctly; otherwise, they can make a design look busy and amateurish — or even unreadable.

The classic answer would be: sans-serif fonts for titles, headings, and serif fonts for the content. Used as a pair, the two types of fonts ensure the needed contrast. But even so, you must be very careful so that the result doesn ' t look odd or exaggerated. Imagine a combination between the Old Style and a geometrical Sans.
